His Policy Depends On Huerta.

President Clings to One Idea that Mexican Executive Must Retire.

Come It All to the United States, Powers Are Told, Says Bacon.

Silence Regarding Inter- vention Considered Ominous in Capital.

(By A. P. Night Wire to the Times.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Though every official of the United States government has been cautioned to maintain absolute silence while the plans of the Washington administration for solving the Mexican problem are worked out, it became known today that a supreme effort is being made to bring about Gen. Victoriano Huerta's retirement from the provisional Presidency of Mexico.

It is the belief of the administration that any plan for a Constitutional election in Mexico depends on Huerta's retirement, and some disclosure from Huerta now is avoided. The future policy of the United States is being quietly and informally made known in diplomatic circles abroad and there are indications that before many days foreign governments generally will have been apprised of the American attitude. It is unlikely that there will be any publication of the American policy until Europe has been formally sounded out and the United States desires it is believed that the powers shall indicate their support of its efforts to solve the problem before it approaches the Mexican City administration in a final effort to secure the elimination of Huerta.

The conference at Vera Cruz between John Lind, representative of President Wilson, and the Norwegian and German ministers is believed to have been held with that end in view although no official explanation has been given of the meeting.

Views of Bacon.

Senator Bacon, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, said today the one thing needed to insure a peaceful settlement of the Mexican problem was for the European governments to indicate in some positive way that they intended to leave the hands of the United States the formation of a policy to be pursued toward Mexico and that they would give the policy their support.

"If this is made clear," he said, "then Gen. Huerta will understand he will be compelled to retire to any demand made by the United States and a peaceful solution of the Mexican problem would very promptly be found."

The subject of much comment in official circles is the absence of official denial of many stories forecasting intervention. Each official as was asked tonight if they would authorize a denial that the United States might use drastic measures to oust Huerta refused to yield, said they did not care to discuss the matter. Secretary Daniels of the Navy Department said today that the four American ships on the east coast of Mexico for whose relief four other ships are en route from Hampton Roads, declared that while transfer ultimately was intended the ships at Vera Cruz had been notified not to leave until ordered. He declared that the Navy Department had not yet decided when it would order the ships to return, but that for the present seven American warships would be kept in and around Vera Cruz.

Proclamation Expected.

Though it had been generally supposed the Mexican Huerta government had made no objection to the presence of the American vessels beyond October 26, the date on which official permission for them to stay expired, it was today learned that objection has been conveyed at any time to the United States through official channels to the presence of the ships. Although there have been published statements from Gen. Huerta along this line it is believed that Huerta's proclamation as to the result of the election of October 26 will be made tomorrow or shortly thereafter.

AMAZONS FIGHT IN BOTH ARMIES.

DEL RIO (Tex.) Nov. 2.—Women of Mexico are playing a prominent part in the warfare of the southern republic, either as "soldaderas," foraging successfully for their men folk in the armies, or occasionally as actual fighters. Many women have left their homes rather than remain alone, and a few of them have gone under fire on motives of revenge. In the case now in progress at Monterrey, a valued member of Gen. Pablo Gonzalez's Constitutional command is Senorita Maria Sanchez, said to be a wealthy Castilian whose brother was shot by Federal regulars. She left a luxurious home and begged permission to replace her brother. Recently at Monclova, a son of Senor Pimental of that city had been sentenced to be shot. The mother, it was said, entered the Federal jail by stealth and stabbing two guards, released her boy and both escaped to the Constitutionalists' headquarters at Hernandez.

In the Federal ranks there is told the story of the wife of an officer who led the rebels into an ambush at Puerto Carmen and though fired on by the angered rebels, galloped through the lines to her husband's side.

When less than a month ago the Federal army of Gen. Mass occupied the Constitutionalists' headquarters at Piedras Negras, "soldaderas" guarded the wagon trains which their skill as foragers had supplied.

One of the famous women fighters in Gen. Alonzo Arana, who recently surrendered to the Huerta forces in Juarez and was pardoned by the government. She is the wife of a former Maderista commander and developed as a leader in the revolt against Madero. One night at the Cruz, she held up the police station, took all available arms and escaped to the hills. She remained at the head of her troop several months.

ARMS MAIN NEED, SAYS MADERO.

OMAHA (Neb.) Nov. 2.—By lifting the embargo on arms, thus permitting the Constitutionalists to march on Mexico City and overthrow Huerta, the United States could assist Mexico in solving the problems of the revolution-torn republic, according to Carlos Madero, brother of the late President Francisco Madero.

"In Mexico we have 130,000 Constitutionalists," declared Madero, "and if the United States would permit us to get modern and equipped we could march on the City of Mexico and overthrow the force of 70,000 under the command of Huerta. Most all the people in the country favor us and once in power we could easily restore peace."

"Intervention by the United States would only mean a long-drawn-out battle, in which all Mexicans alike would get together under one standard to repel the common foe. It would mean at the very least a five-year struggle, which in the end could not achieve the results intended."

MUST WEIGH EVIDENCE.

Chas. Aguirre, the two Maderistas who decided by Federal Judge at Mexico City.

(By A. P. Night Wire to the Times.)

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 2.—Daniel and Evaristo Madero, who are confined in San Juan prison at Vera Cruz, have been placed at the disposition of the Federal judge here for a period of seventy-two hours during which time evidence against them will be considered. If this evidence is conclusive, it is probable that their release will be recommended to the Federal authorities.

Ojeda, the Federal commander at Guaymas, according to dispatches received today by American Consul Simpkins. Dr. Williams, who had been practicing at Hermosillo, the Constitutional capital, went to Guaymas several days ago, against the advice of friends, to secure release for a large shipment of goods belonging to a French concern.

HAGLE PASS (Tex.) Nov. 2.—Advices received by the Constitutionalists here last night from the southern part of the State of Coahuila are that inhabitants there are terrorized because of the departure of Federal troops from the area. They are flocking toward the Texas border in large numbers. According to these advices, a majority of the inhabitants of Llaneros left that place in a body.

GOVERNOR ORDERS SEARCH FOR ARMS.

DENVER, Nov. 2.—Angered by the manner in which strikers at the Ludlow tent colony in the Southern Colorado coal strike have obeyed Adjutant Gen. Chase's order yesterday for surrender of arms, Gov. E. M. Bennett notified the adjutant-general today that he would expect the application of his search and seizure rights tomorrow. After promising the adjutant-general that they would deliver their arms and ammunition, the strikers handed to his adjutant just fourteen rifles and a small quantity of ammunition. It is positively known, however, that the strikers have many hundreds guns concealed about their camps or somewhere in the area adjacent to the colony.

MRS. DODGE ATTACKS IDEALS OF DR. ANNA SHAW.

President of National Anti-Suffrage Association Threats to Boycott Congressmen and to Work Agains Them at the Polls as First Steps Toward Violence.

(By Direct Wire to the Times.)

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Nov. 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.]

In a statement issued tonight Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge of New York, president of the National Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage, attacks Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, head of the suffrage movement in the United States, as laying the foundation for militancy in connection with the votes for women cause in this country. An alleged threat to boycott Congressmen she said to constitute the preliminaries of militancy.

"Evidently the suffrage idea of politics is merely to lead widely in boycott and to prevent the truth from being learned. The acts have merely contributed to his discredit."

THREATEN SULZER.
Candidate for New York Assembly Is Told He Will Be Indicted for Subornation of Perjury.
(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Political enemies of William Sulzer, deposed Governor, now a candidate on the Progressive ticket for the State Assembly, allowed to tell to exist today in the campaign in this city, of which Sulzer's effort to be returned to public office is an interesting feature. The Mayorally nominee, Edward E. McCall for Tammany, and John Furroy Mitchell for Fusion, started time except for one address by Mitchell to German-American citizens, but Sulzer was attacked as an alleged suborner of perjury and an indictable threat to the connection with certain testimony in the High Court of Impeachment that convicted him.

State Senator James D. McCall said evidence would be placed before the District Attorney of Albany county this week relating to the testimony of Duncan W. Peck, State Superintendent of Public Works, before the impeachment body. Peck said under oath that Sulzer asked him to "forget" a certain campaign contribution and told him to "deny it" to investigators.

Sulzer when informed of the threatened proceedings on State said: "I wish they would take such action. It would afford me an opportunity to go on the stand and testify to some matters that were not brought out in the impeachment proceedings."

Hearing, he said, that he was to be attacked on election day in the district where he is running for Assemblyman, Sulzer tonight called upon Mayor Kline, Police Commissioner Waldo and the District Attorney for protection. Gunmen, gangsters, repeaters and ballot-box stuffers intend to invade his district, according to reliable information Sulzer said he had received. "For the purpose of corrupting the elective franchise, terrorizing the voters and influencing the vote," he said, "I am taking this step."

Copies of Telegrams Sent to New York Assemblymen Over His Secretary's Signature Are Published.
ALBANY (N. Y.), Nov. 7.—Telegrams signed "Chester G. Platt," the name of former Gov. Sulzer's private secretary, sent from the executive chamber the day before Sulzer was impeached, which sought to influence the votes of Assemblymen, were made public yesterday.

Another telegram signed "William Sulzer," which urged Franklin D. Roosevelt, acting Secretary of the Navy, to interview the President as soon as possible and make a statement for him to see Annandale, Mitchell and some other friends at an early date "was given out" there was nothing to indicate whether Roosevelt complied.

"That" Sulzer frequently called Edward E. McCall, by shown by charge slips from the telephone company. Only one of these calls was made after the impeachment charges had been voted.

Both the telegrams and telephone charge slips were revealed by State employees who are auditing the accounts of the executive chamber during Sulzer's incumbency.

WILSON'S STATE MUCH IN DOUBT.
TRENTON (N. J.), Nov. 7.—Tuesday's elections in New Jersey will involve the control of both Houses of the Legislature, as well as the choice of a Governor.

Eight State Senators will be chosen and all members of the House. Six Republican Senators hold over and seven Democrats, while eleven is a majority of the Upper House. The complexion of the Lower House will depend largely on the result in Essex county, which returned a Democratic delegation in the last election.

Democrats declare their candidate for Governor, James F. Fielder, who had the endorsement of President Wilson for the nomination, is sure to be elected and Republicans express confidence in the success of former Gov. E. C. Stokes, their candidate.

The uncertain element in the contest is the vote that will be received by Everett Colby, the Progressive candidate, who has made an aggressive campaign. A heavy Colby vote probably will mean the election of Fielder.

HARTFORD (Conn.), Nov. 7.—At least five persons are dead or dying as a result of an explosion in a five-story brick warehouse this morning. Even this committee adjourned until Wednesday because of various local elections. The House will reconvene Wednesday and the Senate will meet tomorrow and adjourn until Thursday.

THE SENATE COMMITTEE HAS REACHED A TROUBLESOME POINT IN THE CONSIDERATION OF THE CURRENCY BILL WHICH MAY PREVENT THE UNANIMOUS REPORT WHICH HAS BEEN HOPED FOR.
Several members of the committee have declared that unless the government is given control of the four regional reserve banks agreed upon they will carry the fight to the floor of the Senate. Under the administration bill the banks would be controlled by directors elected by the member banks and administration supporters are holding out vigorously for this provision.

HARTFORD, Nov. 7.—(Exclusive.) To go through an explosion and a paid leap in the dark. The explosion seemed to wreck the building in a diagonal manner, one whole side—the one that fell on the Hughes home—falling down. The roof of a house occupied by a Syrian family was also broken, and members of their family were rescued with difficulty.

THE PACKARD COMPANY OF DETROIT WRITES FOR INFORMATION

One of the Biggest Automobile Concerns in the United States Investigating the Macomber Rotary Engine.

A letter has just been received from the East inquiring particularly concerning the Macomber Gas Engine, an invention that is surprising everyone who is at all familiar with mechanics.

For a century it was claimed the rotary feature in engine mechanism was an impossibility. About World's Fair period a steam engine was invented, which is now used in all the trans-Atlantic steamers. Since then the inventive genius to discover a rotary gas engine has been the ultimate of engineers. The accomplishment of this great step forward must be credited to Walter G. Macomber. The engine is an absolute, complete fact and is now installed in automobiles.

A free demonstration is being given every day and evening at 419 So. Main street. Every reader of The Times is cordially invited to come and see this marvelous invention, almost human in its workings. If you are not situated so you can call in person, address, for descriptive literature, The Empire Sales Company, Suite 218 Delta Bldg., Los Angeles, Cal.—Advertisement.

San Quentin Upheaval.

tin and tell the directors to mind their own business.

ELLIS PACKS UP.

So, Capt. Ellis politely resigned and tonight he packed his household belongings and returned to his home in Anaheim.

That was one point scored by President Duffy over Warden Hoyle. The warden had been forced to lose the service of one of his most efficient lieutenants. He had suffered this loss through the invasion of his executive powers by the board of prison directors, at the instance of President Duffy.

As a matter of fact, the prison directors had said to Warden Hoyle that if he would not discipline an officer who, in the judgment of the prison directors, was guilty of a serious neglect of duty the prison directors would step in and do the disciplining themselves.

In view of Warden Hoyle, it is said, this action of the prison directors deprived him of the free exercise of judgment necessary to the proper conduct of the prison and he determined that he could remain warden of San Quentin without sacrificing his dignity and independence and endangering the safety and well-being of the penal institution.

Upon the other hand, it is said that President Duffy and Prison Directors Porter and Neumiller have arrived at the opinion that there are better prison wardens than Warden Hoyle and that the public service will be benefited rather than injured by Hoyle's resignation.

HOYLE'S STATEMENT.

Hoyle frankly admitted tonight that he intended to resign the post of warden at the penitentiary over the bay, giving as his reason for quitting the majority of the board at the time Capt. Ellis was condemned by resolution.

"I don't know just when I will hand in my resignation," said Hoyle tonight. "Probably it will be at the next meeting of the prison directors and, perhaps, a little later. The board's criticism of Capt. Ellis was indirectly a criticism of my administration at San Quentin and in the conduct of affairs over here I do not propose to be interfered with by the prison directors."

"Upon leaving, however, my present plans are to go into the hotel business with my brother in San Francisco."

BRITONS PERPLEXED.

London Telegraph Admits the Mexican Situation Has Two Sides to It and Is Political Only.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—Capt. Granville Fortescue, who was President Roosevelt's military attaché at the White House and who has studied conditions in Latin-American countries for the Pan-American Union, contributes a long article to the Daily Mail, presenting the American viewpoint of the Mexican difficulty. He argues that lack of information is the chief factor that can explain Great Britain's misguided policy.

The Telegraph, in an editorial, argues that for the European countries the question is not one of ethics, but of practical politics. It readily admits, however, that there is a moral deal to be said on the other side and that the whole matter is so perplexing and baffling that the only prudent course is to wait events.

"We believe we are right in saying that both France and Germany, as well as Great Britain, will take no decisive action until the situation is clearer," says the paper.

The Daily Graphic again urges the government to retrace its steps in the Mexican affair.

PIKE'S PEAK SAFE.

Washington Geologists Say That Report It Is Sinking Has no Foundation in Fact.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—Recent reports from Denver that Pike's Peak had sunk thirty-nine feet in the last three years were exploded in a Geological Survey bulletin issued today. According to experts of the Geological Survey, the goal of hundreds of caravans, which crossed the plains in the early days, has not sunk an inch and there is small likelihood that it will in the lifetime of the American republic, at least. The bulletin says that some one simply has been comparing the exact altitude of the peak, recently fixed by survey at 14,109 feet, with old railroad or barometer figures.

FINISH RETURNS IN MEXICO CITY.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 3.—The official, designated to supervise the return of the election of Deputies, have declared elected eleven out of the twelve candidates to represent the Federal district. One of the candidates is declared to have received an insufficient number of votes.

Of those elected, one is a son and one a brother-in-law of Gen. Huerta. Three are members of his staff and one is a member of the staff of War Minister, Gen. Blanquet. Zacatecas, the capital of the State of the same name, is reported to be menaced by rebel forces, which are moving down from northern Mexico. The north of Zacatecas has been abandoned by the Federals, who have fallen back on Zacatecas.

Africa's Ashamed Population.

Indianapolis News: Some idea of the vast number of animals that Africa used to support can be gained from a passage in W. Souley's reminiscences. "It was Mr. Souley's good fortune in 1892 to witness the great trek of springbucks from east to west of the Bushmanland desert on a scale such as no man will ever see again. Fencing the increase of population, and the distribution of arms have almost exterminated the once innumerable host. He says: "I have stood on an eminence some twenty feet high, far out on the plains, and seen the absolutely level surface, as wide as the eye could reach, covered with resting springbucks, with from over the eastern horizon the rising columns of dust told of fresh hosts advancing."

ASSERTS TRUST IS UNLAWFUL.

Government's Complaint Is Ready for Argument.

Harvester Company Hearing Begins Today.

Eighteen Big Volumes Hold All the Evidence.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 3.—The brief of the government in its suit to dissolve as an illegal combination the International Harvester Company will be submitted to the United States District Court here tomorrow before Circuit Judges Sanborn, Hook and Smith.

In its petition, which was filed April 30, 1912, the government alleges that the International Harvester Company was organized in 1902 as a trust in violation of the Sherman Law; that its purchase of the plants, properties and business of the McCormick, Deering, Plano, Warder, Bushnell & Gleason and Milwaukee companies created in that company a monopoly of the business in binders, mowers, rakes and blower twine in the United States; and that in the business methods and practices, the company had increased its prices, to the grave injury of the farmers, and had coerced dealers and eliminated competitors.

COMPANY'S ANSWER.

The company, in its answer, filed August 5, 1912, admitted the purchase of the harvester properties and business of the five vendors, but denied that the company was organized for any unlawful purpose, or that such purchases gave it a monopoly in the harvester trade, or that it had increased prices, or that its business methods and practices had injured the farmers or the dealers, or its competitors, but, on the contrary, its answer stated that its organization and business had been a benefit to the farmers in improved machines and service, and in the low prices of the machines.

The taking of evidence in behalf of the government began at Chicago on September 16, 1912, before Robert R. Taylor, examiner. The government called witnesses at hearings held in Chicago, New York, St. Louis and St. Paul.

On behalf of the Harvester company witnesses were called at hearings held at Omaha, Neb., Wichita, Kan., Kansas City, Mo., Sioux Falls, S. D., St. Paul, Minn., Pittsburgh, Pa., and Chicago.

The taking of evidence was completed on June 27, last. The record returned to the court by the examiner consists, with the exhibits, of eighteen printed volumes of about 300 pages each.

This case is believed to be a record, both in the number of witnesses examined and in the short time taken in preparing the case for trial. The counsel representing the government are Edwin P. Grosvener, special assistant to the Attorney-General of the United States, and Joseph Darling, and for the defendants, Judge William D. McHugh of Omaha, and John F. Wilson and Edgar A. Baerfoot of Chicago.

RISE OF HAMBURG PORT.

Located Fifty Miles From the Sea Its Dockage Extends for Twenty-five Miles Along the River.

[Baltimore American:] Hamburg, which for the decade leading up to and including 1911 had been considered as fourth in importance among the world's seaports, is, according to an announcement, expected to take first place when the shipping business for 1913 is duly tabulated. The rise of Hamburg in commercial importance is continuous with the rise of the German merchant marine in the world's carrying trade. Money has been expended in the development of the dockage system of Hamburg quite as lavishly as in the development of Liverpool's harbor.

According to an article recently appearing in Popular Mechanics, 14,000,000 tons of freight was unloaded from 13,400 ships lying in Hamburg docks during the year. The leading German port is on the Elbe, fifty miles inland from the sea. The Elbe had but a fifteen-foot natural depth of channel; now there is a depth of thirty-seven feet and a dozen big dredges are at work upon the job of providing an approach to Hamburg that will be of uniform forty-foot depth at mean low tide and wide enough to permit the easy passage of the largest ships.

Hamburg now has a dockage system that strings along the Elbe for twenty-five miles. The most impressive phase of the harbor system for the rapid loading and unloading of ships. There are 150 three-ton cranes along the piers, which are operated by steam or electricity from a municipal power plant, and besides there are 100 electric traveling cranes, a number of huge double cranes and several seventy-five-ton hammer type cranes, which pick up cars and empty the contents directly into the holds of ships. The piers, which are 100 feet wide, cover railroad tracks, which connect with railroad systems reaching all over Continental Europe.

Suicide a Cure for Love.

Indianapolis News: Suicide as a cure for hopeless love is a common expedient in Japan. "There are Japanese lovers," says a writer, "who, owing to circumstances, are unable to marry; but they do not blame circumstances. They regard their misfortune as the result of an error in previous existence, such as breaking their promise to wed or because they were cruel to each other. Such lovers believe that if they bind themselves together with an under girl and spring into a river or lake they will become united in their next birth. This suicide of Japanese lovers is called 'joshi,' which means 'love death,' or 'passion death.'"

How Coolies Sift Rice.

Indianapolis News: A favored method of sifting rice with Chinese coolies is to lean up against a pile of sacks and stick a tin tube through the sack, the rice, which is dry, flows naturally through the tube into the coolie's clothing. Flour is also stolen in this manner, and a common thief obtain a large quantity and then pour water into his clothing, which makes matters rather uncomfortable for the culprit.

READY FOR THE WORST.
 Pomona orange growers have spent a large sum of money for hesters in case of frost. There is no going to be any frost, but it is just as well to be prepared for emergencies when they do occur.

A WISE LADY.
 Kitty Gordon is not a professional beauty. She is a logician and mathematician. Given good looks, a poor company, and an offer to enter vaudeville and what is the result? It is the problem put to Kitty. Remembering that her compound ratio said that four faints make a faint, she proceeded to put the rule to work. The fair Kitty is now at liberty to accept her latest offer.

THE HONEST HEN.
 The hens are doing their level best to add to the prosperity of the country. In 1907 they exported 1,500,000 dozen eggs. The exports for the fiscal year 1913 were 21,000,000 dozen. The average price obtained in 1907 was 14 cents per dozen. The export price obtained in 1913 was 21½ cents per dozen. Chickens biddy is an honored and useful member of every family having a back yard. Hats off to the hens. Cut, cut, cut ketchup!

A HAPPY SEASON.
 Thanksgiving is not yet here, but it is coming, for which let us all give thanks. In the meanwhile we have the atmosphere of November morn. We breathe chrysanthemums and football. College enthusiasm fills the campus, the football field and into the city. The sweet, cold cheeks bloom with autumn wind roses. Even deans, moral preceptors and things are almost cheerful. This a good world in November and Los Angeles is the best city in the world to stay in or to come back to.

SHE MAKES A HIT.
 Katherine, now lettest thou the royal families in Europe depart in peace and pledge thy faithful heart to a good, plain, untitled American gentleman. Not as the Duchess of Abruzzi, with a dozen empty titles to thy name, wilt thou be snubbed by the sticks-in-waiting at the courts of monarchs. But as Mrs. "Bitty" Hitt thou shalt be warmly welcomed in every American circle of society, where wit and beauty are the only "passports" to the door of popularity.

STAGE CARICATURES.
 The Rev. E. E. Barton has publicly protested against the stage comic clergyman. The crude Hebrew, the mother-in-law and the raw Irishman have already been ruled out by the canons of good taste as subjects for excessive caricaturing. We think the antics of a they man might also be removed from the realms of comedy. There is nothing funny about a drunkard; there is a public tragedy. The world is full of good subject matter for laughter without trespassing on the grounds of tragic folly or confounding the sublime with the ridiculous. Some day we shall develop more playwrights who can keenly satirize without being offensive, who can draw clever caricatures without being invidious.

ARMENIAN, NOT AMERICAN.
 "To be headed a lemon" is not a modern Americanism as most of us have supposed it to be. A recent divorce case in Boston has revealed the fact that it originated in ancient Armenia. When an Armenian husband wishes to be particularly insulting to the wife of his bosom—among half-civilized people wives are still sometimes insulted purposely—he sends her a present containing some old clothes, several lemons and a bouquet of faded flowers. These symbols being interpreted mean: "You look like old rag to me; I have turned on you and my affection is dried up and withered." For being the object of these allegorical insults, Mrs. Shoshanna was granted a decree of divorce by a Boston judge. We presume the expression "chewing the rag" may also be Armenian, but "I should worry" is, so far as is known, purely American.

SAILORS' RIGHTS.
 The usual contract made between shipmasters and sailors in Liverpool, where the latter ship in a British vessel for a foreign port and return, is that payment of wages shall be made at the completion of the round voyage. This is done to discourage sailors from deserting at the foreign port.

The pending shipping bill requires foreign ships to pay their sailors on-board the vessel when they enter in American ports, and open the courts of the United States to foreigners for the purpose of compelling such payment. This is not only in contravention of treaty rights; it is in breach of the law of contracts. The shipmaster and the sailor—both subjects of Great Britain—make one contract in Liverpool. Under the proposed law the sailor is privileged to set aside the contract and then have the United States make a new one for him.

Under the proposed law the foreign service between San Francisco and San Quentin would have to be performed by ocean steamers. No ferryboat could carry the number of lifeboats required by the law.

LO, THE LOW INDIAN.
 It is evidently the desire of President Wilson and his subordinates to keep the pie counter well loaded with viands. One of the latest movements in that direction is that of Indian Commissioner Moorehead, recommending transfer of full control of Indian affairs from the Department of the Interior to a high-salaried expert commission with a long tenure of office.

There has been more misinformation and maladministration in dealing with and governing the Indian tribes living west of the Missouri River than with respect to any other question with which the government or Congress has had to deal. The ideal average as he is presented upon the floor of Congress is a cross between a Boston transcendentalist and a Colorado coyote. He is invested with romantic attributes never possessed by any actual Indian, from "King Philip" or Metamucel—to Shack Nasty Jim.

The Indian with whom Congress is called upon annually to deal is largely the creation of Washington sophomoric newspaper correspondents, who place smooth sentences in the mouths of "Rain in the Face" and "Man Afraid of His Mother-in-law," and change a guttural jargon about beef and biscuits and whisky into lofty periods about a Great Spirit and happy hunting grounds, when the fact is that many Indian tribes have no more belief in an existence after death than had Heckel or Insuperol.

As a matter of fact, the average Indian is not a noble savage who has been cheated out of his lands by the ruthless paleface. He is not a moral red man whose kindred have been destroyed by firewater. He is not a wronged son of the forest whose hunting grounds have been taken from him by grasping white men. He is not a dusky child of nature whose soul is so great that he will die rather than become the white man's slave. He is not a high-toned grizzly bear and his days in pensively leaning upon his rifle with his face to the setting sun while he delivers himself of rhetorical flourishes concerning the wrongs which his race have endured from the cruel paleface.

The men and women of the frontier know the Indian as he is. They see him not under the glitter of chandeliers at White House receptions of delegations from western reservations, but dirty-handed and tangled-haired in his native silt. They know that the average Indian will not work if he can avoid it, not because he is chivalric, but because he is lazy, and that he is not much of a hunter, except as was the hunting dog who was always hunting for a bone.

The "red" Indian will lie in wait for the rabbit or the antelope, or chase the field rat or the grasshopper. But who ever knew an Indian to hunt a grizzly or a panther, or any combative animal? There are educated and aspiring Indians, but these remarks concern the low Indian. As a fighter Lo is a fraud. He combats with his own race. It is because he is in possession of every advantage, and his attacks upon white men are usually made either from ambush or in overwhelming numbers.

There appears to be no extremely urgent reason why we should expend many more millions of dollars per annum in supporting idle and good-for-nothing red men, or give them anything except the same right to work or slave that we give white men. The "red" Indian will lie in wait for the rabbit or the antelope, or chase the field rat or the grasshopper. But who ever knew an Indian to hunt a grizzly or a panther, or any combative animal?

This policy fell into disuse. No crops to speak of were gathered upon any Indian reservation and the spiritual harvest was larger than the agricultural one. This failure may have been the result of unwise selection, for the Interior Department sent a Baptist to the Plutes of Nevada, where there is not water enough to properly immerse a convert, and a preacher of red-hot Calvinism to the Sioux, who in the winter time would greatly prefer hell to North Dakota.

If, in order to make places for Democrats, we are to have an Indian commission with an army of retainers, it is to be hoped that the commission will recommend the purchase of abandoned New England and Middle State farms, and the transfer to them of Indians where they could be supported in localities too densely populated to make Indian raids possible, and where white friends could have easy access to them.

If we must have an Indian commission The Times bespeaks the place of California commissioner for Toopious. How magnificent he would look with his head shaved to a scalp lock, with his mustache gone, with his spindle shanks arrayed in fringed buckskin breeches, and the scalp of the Herald corps hanging at his belt!

SEVEN OFFICIAL ANGELS.
 East St. Louis in Illinois had until recently for its officials—if the grand jury report is to be believed—as rare a combination of second-class as ruled San Francisco in the olden days before the Vigilance Committee was called into existence. Charles S. Lambert, who was Mayor in 1911, is charged in four indictments with entering into a conspiracy to defraud the city of $100,000, and in one indictment with having conspired with other officials to defraud the city of $25,000. E. Fred Gerold, City Treasurer in 1911 and 1912, is charged in four indictments with having entered into a conspiracy with Lambert to defraud the city of $100,000; in one indictment with having entered into a conspiracy to defraud the city of $25,000, and in one indictment with having embezzled $50,000.

Against William R. Rodenberger, former City Controller, and John J. Faulkner, are practically the same charges, except as to the $50,000 case. Rodenberger is accused of embezzling $10,000. Dr. Lemuel B. Short, Health Commissioner, and Daniel G. Woersch, former Superintendent of Streets, are indicted on the charge of being participants in the $100,000 steal.

perintendent of Streets, are indicted on the charge of being participants in the $100,000 steal.

The seventh member of this bright and shining band, Lester J. Grigsby, who is present Chief of Detectives in East St. Louis, is charged by the grand jury not only with having shared in the $100,000 conspiracy, but with having committed burglary and larceny on his own account.

The Times does not intimate that these seven officials or any one of them is guilty of the offenses charged merely because a grand jury has indicted them. It chronicles the fact of their indictment merely as an item of news. It presumes that they are innocent until a petit jury shall have convicted them, and it will hail their acquittal (when it comes) with unfeigned newspaper joy.

The indictments may be successfully demurred to on the ground that the acts therein set forth do not constitute a public offense. They may be set aside on the ground that the principal witnesses against them was a brother-in-law of an enemy of one of the accused. Continuances may be granted until all the witnesses against them die of old age or have crossed the river into Missouri and are running for office on the Progressive ticket, or have come to Los Angeles and entered the service of Toopious Earl.

And when the trial comes off the petit jury may say "not guilty." A man is not necessarily a scoundrel because a grand jury says he is one. Was not the virtuous censor of fallen women, Guy Eddie, declared to be guiltless of misbehavior with an unfallen one? Did not a petit jury declare that the $200,000 purist, Clarence Darrow, never let go of one dollar of the money he had taken in cold storage, the fact remains that cold storage has been of incalculable benefit to consumers in providing commodities for consumption out of the natural productive season.

MONEY IS MONEY.
 Farmers are not all "nature's noblemen." Bankers are not all "hogs, vampires and the devil's own." There are farmers who put the biggest strawberries on the top of the box and the biggest rock in the middle of the hay bale. There are rapacious bankers who could not repeat the Lord's prayer, who do not know which is the seventh commandment, who want a bonus, a commission, compound interest and double security for a loan, and there are some unconscionable ones who actually retain their money back when it is due, regardless of the inconvenience such repayment may inflict upon the borrower.

Will these conditions be changed by the Wilson currency bill? Will the blithesome agriculturist no longer enter the office of the president of the bank with bared and bowed head, request a small loan to be secured by chattel mortgage on his crop, and receiving a gruff denial, depart dejected? Or will he stalk in arrogantly, hat on head, demand the sum he wants, and when asked for security, reply: "Isn't my word good without other security? If it isn't I will report you to the Federal Reserve Commissioner and he will put you out of business p.d."?

Quon sabb? Huh?

A BIG COAL DEAL.
 An English syndicate has paid $50,000,000 for 550,000 acres of land and ninety-six collieries in the New River district of West Virginia. This included the properties of five large corporations and the Guggenheim interests.

It is predicted that the purchasers of these coal lands will avoid labor strikes by paying the coal miners whatever they ask and increasing the cost of coal to American consumers. If the consumers will not pay the price all the coal will be shipped to England. A large proportion of it will be shipped there anyhow, for England's coal deposits are approaching exhaustion.

Suppose, frinstance, the stork should conclude to drop twins at Queen Mary's.

UNCLE WALT.

The world went well when I was young, and anthems rose from every tongue; the politicians all were straight, their one desire to serve the State, and no one ever went to jail for swiping rolls of public moneys. The merchants all wore plous grins and never put sand in sugar bins. No customer was ever stung, long ago, when I was young. The world was sane when I was young, and every barrel possessed its bung. The women wore the Grecian bend and were not called on to defend outrageous styles which shock men's glims—they didn't advertise their limbs. And ere the Grecian bend was known one woman filled a house alone, her dress was spread on bulging hoops as big as modern chicken coops; she didn't show her legs or heels, and people thought she went on wheels. Her grates by all birds were sung, long ago, when I was young. The world was sick when I was young; man used his head and not his lung. But things have retrograded since, and now the world is but a guinea, and when I die the whole showings will slip its trolley and go hang.

COLD STORAGE OF INCALCULABLE BENEFIT.

BY WALTER J. BALLARD.

In a recent report on cold storage and the food supply, a government report says: "Let the fact be what it will with regard to the effect of cold storage on prices, the fact remains that cold storage has been of incalculable benefit to consumers in providing commodities for consumption out of the natural productive season."

Butter, for instance, the estimated principal receipts into cold storage during one year were:

Commodity.	Pounds.
Fresh beef	133,000,000
Fresh mutton	20,000,000
Fresh pork	174,000,000
Butter, cases	187,000,000
Eggs, cases	10,000,000

It appears that 3.1 per cent. of a year's production of fresh beef, commercial slaughter, goes into cold storage, and the data for other meats furnish even larger figures. Of the farm and factory production of butter during a year 8.6 per cent. goes into cold storage, and of the farm and non-farm output of eggs 15 per cent. The wholesale value of the fresh beef, mutton and pork received into cold storage totaled $55,000,000; of butter, $40,000,000, and of eggs, $84,000,000, a grand total of $139,000,000.

Facts do not warrant the oft-stated assertion that the public health is endangered by foods remaining too long in cold storage. The report shows that the receipts into cold storage are entirely or very nearly exhausted by deliveries within ten months. Very small percentages of some of the commodities were stored for a much longer time, and these are explained by warehouse men as being caused by special circumstances of an uncommercial nature.

Our Petroleum Commerce.

Between 1892 and 1912 the exportation of mineral oil from the United States has risen from $1,500,000 to $129,000,000. The total value of the mineral oil exported in the half-century since the export movement began is about $3,000,000,000. An idea of the rapid growth of mineral oil exports can be obtained by comparing the total of each ten years:

1892	1,500,000
1902	24,000,000
1912	51,000,000
1893	45,000,000
1903	75,000,000
1913	112,000,000
1912	137,000,000

There are considerable imports of mineral oils, but it is in crude form, coming chiefly from Mexico because of the better refining facilities of the United States. Five hundred and thirty million gallons were brought in during 1913; in 1912, 161,000,000 gallons; in 1911, 30,000,000; in 1910, 14,000,000 gallons. The above figures indicate how rapid has been the increase of importation of crude oil for refining. Practically all of this enters the ports of the United States in tank steamers. The distribution of our refined mineral oil is world-wide. The greatest competition comes from the Baku district on the Caspian Sea.

REAL BOOSTING.

BY ARTHUR W. KINNEY.

President of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

There is something impressive and awe-inspiring about the transition of a city like ours into a great metropolis of the million class—to watch the people from all parts of the earth flocking to its confines, leaving the early scenes for all time to come; taking up the duties and loyalties of the new habitat with zeal and enthusiasm unbounded, and urging their friends in the old homeland to come thither and participate in the joy and pleasures of the ideal life of our Southland.

Each feels that he is here for the same purpose and each is imbued with a pulsating spirit of optimism and progress and a civic pride that becomes one of his most cherished possessions. It is the men and women behind a city that make a city. It is the combined optimism, enterprise and forceful energy of our people that are making our city famed the world over. No city takes a greater pride than does ours in its growth and progress. No other city offers so warm a welcome to the people of every land. That the name Los Angeles is synonymous with hospitality is recognized everywhere.

In our praiseworthy efforts to induce our friends from ten thousand other places to come here and abide we should not neglect our duty to plan for their welfare and assistance when they have become a part of our body politic. We look forward with pleasure to their coming; let us, therefore, not shirk the responsibilities that their coming will entail. No city can be truly prosperous in which human happiness is not considered as well as material progress.

Much that we are today we have become through the dreams and the toll of the booster. Much that we shall be will come to us through his patriotic, unflagging and unconquerable energies. The real booster is the man who builds as he boosts, who backs up his optimism and enthusiasm with plans for solidity and permanency, and he sees to it that such plans become realities. He rears the fabrics of the mighty structure of progress upon foundations strong, unshakable and enduring. Such is the creed of the real booster.

We of Los Angeles have set the million mark for our population in 1920 as our goal, but it will not profit us to have a million people here at that time if thousands upon thousands of this population be idle. Idle people are discontented. Discontented people are "knockers." A much greater prosperity would be ours with a far less population made up of those busily employed in the arts and industries, or cultivating small plots in the suburbs. Moreover, the greater the extension of such enterprises the less will be the likelihood of the development here of a great slum district—that plague spot that is the curse of so many of the world's great cities.

A campaign having for its object a greatly augmented population will not add to our real progress and happiness half so much as a great and popular movement looking to the extension of our manufacturing enterprises and the expansion of our commerce. With this idea constantly in view the new industrial bureau and the foreign trade department of our Chamber of Commerce, recently so auspiciously inaugurated, will direct their best efforts to make more business for our city, and to make possible a far greater scope for the activities of our people. These two powerful organizations pressage great things for Los Angeles, for through the achievement of their aims we shall obtain more pay rolls, more commercial stability, more independence and therefore more prosperity. The measure of their success will be proportionate to the extent of the support given them by our people.

We are building a great city here, deliberately and knowingly. It is possible for us almost unerringly and accurately to predict the increase of population of Los Angeles, and to know what its size will be from year to year, a privilege given to those of very few of the world's cities. We know the demands that will be made upon us and we know our future needs, therefore we shall be remiss indeed if we fail to make our plans accordingly. In building for the future we must endeavor to provide employment for the hundreds of thousands who are destined to take a place in our citizenship. We must round out our city and make it evenly balanced.

This is a city where the planning and the building are not alone for today. It is a place where the things that are done should be done with an eye to the morrow and to the years to come. Though we are steadfast in the prospering present, the mighty future ever looms before us in all its vast and absolute certainties, and summons, as we command, us to build to meet its necessities. There will be no "prevaricating with duty, now that we are on the threshold of action."

Los Angeles has countless real boosters who are always alive to her future and thereby is that future assured.

WOMEN TEACHING CITIZENSHIP.

A Junior Civic League is being formed in each grade of the Birmingham (Ala.) schools. This has come through the efforts of a women's club and is expected to educate the children in the aims and ideals of good citizenship, says the New York Evening Post.

"As yet," said a woman who has been a leader in the movement, our school system as a whole does not include the study of civic improvement, and we as citizens should co-operate with the teachers in including this important study in the school curriculum." Care of the school grounds is to be supplemented by an interest in the improvement of the city as a whole and every boy and girl, on joining the league, signs this pledge:

I will not injure any tree, shrub or lawn.
 I promise not to spit upon the floor in a street car, schoolhouse or any public building nor upon the sidewalk.
 I pledge myself not to deface any fence or public building.
 Neither will I scatter paper or throw rubbish in public places.
 I will not use profane language at any time.
 I will always protect birds.
 I will protect the property of others as I would my own.
 I will promise to be a true and loyal citizen.

WRIGHT MAKES THE LOW SCORE.

Turns in a Card of 71 for the Annandale Course.

Breaks Record for Members in Competition.

Gossip from All the Other Country Clubs.

BY BONNIE GLENNER.

With the lowest score ever made by a member in competition over the golf course of the Annandale Country Club, E. N. Wright of Pasadena, won the West Hughes cup offered for the October tournament.

Wright's score Thursday afternoon was 71, which practically won him the cup. He made the first nine holes of the course in 22 and the last nine in 19. The second hole was made in two and three other holes in three. His net score for the tournament was 71.

Dr. W. C. Smith was second in the tournament with a net score of 72. The following were entered in the tournament: Dr. W. C. Smith, E. N. Wright, Dr. J. H. Warren, A. E. Brady, G. Chaffee, Lincoln Clark, A. A. French, C. R. Fleming, H. W. Wadsworth, Carlton Wright, W. E. Hunkins, H. Newby, J. Ball, Dr. West Hughes, M. C. Smith, F. H. Kent, M. A. Macdonald, J. W. Smith, W. E. BILLIARD EXPERTS ESSAY NEW ROLE.

BALE-LINE, POCKET AND THREE-CUSHION TOURNEY.

Interesting Departure Promised in Mixed Contest Planned to Show Best All-Round Cue Man in City. Good Line-up of Local Players Indicated.

Billiard lovers are showing much interest in a proposition made at Morley's rooms, looking toward the establishment of some local expert upon a pedestal of his own as the best all-around billiardist of the city, through the medium of a tournament in which each competitor must meet every opponent in three games, one each at 14-2 ballline, three-cushion, and continuous pocket billiards.

The idea grew out of a discussion following Morley's announcement that he would play all games at his choice of the three games, the tournament suggestion being the outcome.

George Banks, Arthur Seymour, Byron Gillette, James Morley, H. J. O'Brien, Paul Robinson, Jack Ingram and William Maguire were the first named as eligible contestants for the honor, some being good at all the games while others excel at two of the three mentioned.

Banks, Morley and Ingram at once approved the proposition, announcing their intention of competing. Ingram and Morley play all the games about evenly, Banks being strong in the pocket game and holding the Southern California championship at the pocket game.

Seymour is conceded to be the strongest ball-line player, and is also quite strong at three-cushion. Maguire is strong at the pocket and at ball-line, and Gillette is expert at all three. O'Brien plays well the same games as Banks, in which he is now meeting all comers at the local level.

Mackenzie and Banks, of the room manager, emphatically endorse Morley's proposal, both asserting that it should prove exceptionally interesting as an event, and stating that they will assist in promoting it. Banks and Mackenzie think a percentage of games should count, one point being awarded for each win, as in the case of the tournament, but Morley suggests that possibly an equitable arrangement for total points could be administered, such as one point at three-cushion to equal five at pocket billiards and ten at ball-line. These details can be arranged by the time the tournament managers meet, as they seem inclined to do before the present tournament and are preparing for the Coast championship tournament by taking on P. J. Rogers at Vancouver during the early morning night, and Howard Wynne, a boy wonder, on the same terms for Tuesday evening, at Rogers's.

BROKEN CLUTCH DOESN'T STOP CAR.

George Holding, engineer of the Moon Motor Company, tells how he operated his car after breaking the clutch. "I raced my engine while the gear lever was in neutral in order to keep the motor alive," he says, "slowed it up and then shifted to first, nursing my engine carefully as I did. Then I threw the motor again, slowed it up until the car was moving at a rate of speed corresponding to the second speed of the second gear. Then I speeded up the engine, slowed up again until the car was traveling so as to have two engines gear traveling at practically the same speed, and threw into third, or high, speed. It came all the way to St. Louis and the next morning went to the factory in the car. I had some trouble in making the changes when I had to slow up for street-car tracks, but otherwise managed very well."

Yale University has a sixteen-hole golf course within easy access of the campus. R. B. Benjamin, manager of the Australian cricket team, which played many matches throughout the country and Canada during the summer, says he will bring over another eleven next year.

EDDIE CAMPI APPEARS EVEN FASTER THAN EVER.

BY DE WITT VAN COTT.

EDDIE CAMPI wound up his training yesterday afternoon down at Harry Gilmore's gymnasium at Venice when he boxed with Charlie Short, one of his sparring partners. Campi, if such a thing is possible, is faster than he ever was in his life. He hits quicker, counters better, side-steps, ducks and slips blows like a streak of lightning, but he does not seem to improve a bit in his punching.

His manager and trainer, Tim McGrath, and Eddie himself, claim that he is hitting harder than at any time since he has been in the boxing game. He hit the punching bag for several rounds and shadow-boxed for a few more, then boxed three rounds with Morris Flynn from Chicago, and three with Charlie Short, a young 17-year-old boy that is clever and will be heard from some day if he follows the boxing game.

Short is fast and has a good left hand and a good right as well, but Eddie was so fast that he had little chance to show just how good he was. Eddie looks better physically than I have ever seen him and the weight of 115 pounds ringside will be easy for him to make. Lewis Edin Campi, said that he only weighed 117 pounds when he finished his work yesterday, and he does not look an ounce heavier than he did in his last fight.

Campi appears to have the better of the weight proposition.

There was quite a crowd of celebrities on hand to watch Campi in his work-out. Julian Kline and his manager, Eddy Garry, Johnny Brennan, Hal Clements, B. C. Hardman and Nat Goodwin were interested spectators to Campi's training stunts and all were enthusiastic over Eddie's condition.

Tim McGrath, the mineral water king, was just as enthusiastic as the rest and cannot see anybody but his boy Campi in the coming go.

When Tim was asked what he thought of Gil Mead's proposition to match Campi with Edin Campi for a $1000 side bet for a twenty-round go, said: "Campi holds four decisions over Mead in preparation for the Panama-Pacific tour, and Gil is talking through his hat. When it comes to a show-down, Gil will want me to bet him that amount at once, but the soundest betting odds would be about four to one on Eddie."

Campi is very confident that he will beat Benny Chavez and he is looking for a fast contest, but said: "I am ready for anything that the Mexican can hand out. I saw him box in Denver and have no fear of his great punch. I met Kid Williams, and he did not hurt me, and I do not figure that Chavez will do anywhere near as well as the kid did."

Danny Lyons is working hard down at Gilmore's gymnasium conditioning himself for his ten-round semi-wind-up with Battling Chico. Danny is sure that he will beat the battler if he will only stand up and give him toe-to-the scrap. Chico likes this kind of a mill himself, and it is dollars to doughnuts that he will be right there when the boys have a good contest that Danny is looking for. Danny has been meeting boys much heavier than himself ever since he has been in the game, but he will meet a boy of his own weight, and he has all the more confidence in himself for that. But he is not to be drawn and appears to have taken too much weight off himself for a ten-round contest. On the other hand, Chico has the appearance of a good fighter and does not seem to be as good as I have seen him, physically.

But Chico is a confident little fellow and believes that he can beat any boy in the country at his weight. Both of these boys have a good punch and are very aggressive and it should be almost as interesting as the main event. Danny is looking for a fight that will stand up to me and fight. I will guarantee that the contest will not go the scheduled ten rounds. The boys will include a route of 1915 motorists through the big trees in the north and will cover the boulevards in the south.

Clark Jorgensen, formerly the heavyweight champion of Southern California and the Pacific Coast, and Bernie Clark, the welter-weight amateur champion of Southern California and the Pacific Coast, will meet in a ten-round contest at the same time will be given to the fighters.

FROM THE SIDELINES.

FROM THE SIDELINES. THE Southern California intercollegiate rugby championship appears to be gradually arranging itself into a scrap between Manual Arts and Pomona high schools. Manual Arts appears to be the class of the city schools, while Pomona certainly has made an awful mess of the Claret Belt institutions. Earlier in the season Pomona Manual Arts defeated the Trollers 3 to 0, but at that time Manual had not reached the state of efficiency in teamwork that it now enjoys, and a post season battle between the two teams should be a great scrap.

WESTERN FOOTBALL.

WESTERN FOOTBALL. CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Saturday's football battles witnessed the winning of supremacy by Chicago and Minnesota in the western intercollegiate conference, the humiliation of two eastern teams in intercollegiate contests and the retention by Nebraska of the title of the only undefeated team of the Missouri Valley territory. This result puts Minnesota and Chicago again in the lead in the two weeks for the undisputed championship of the "big nine." It boosts middle western football to a high place, for the first time since Nebraska's possible contender with the eventual "big nine" leader, the best team in the West, the Aggie, has shown since its defeat by the Aggie also entitles it to consideration.

IN THE ROCKIES.

IN THE ROCKIES. DENVER, (Colo.) Nov. 2.—Saturday's football games in the Rocky Mountain intercollegiate conference did not serve further to eliminate contentions for the conference championship, but did unquestionably demonstrate the superiority of open formations over the old method of close attack and defense. The team which are left among the formidable ones are Colorado School of Mines, Colorado College, Utah and the University of Colorado, with the Mines making the better showing. Colorado College and University of Colorado played a scoreless tie on a heavy field yesterday, and the result of the play was said by some to have been a virtual victory for Colorado College, which succeeded in preventing a score by the heavier university team.

East portals of Second street tunnels.

Plans just completed by the City Engineer, according to specifications adopted by the Council and approved by the Municipal Art Commission. The portals are twenty-four feet wide and seventeen feet high. The lower portion of the colonnade will be of monolithic concrete in imitation of a "bar" masonry. The balustrade surmounting it will be of ornamental cast stone. Ornamental light fixtures will be placed at each end of the balustrade.

Another White Way.

READY FOR ACTION ON SECOND-STREET TUNNEL.

PLANS for the Second-street tunnel and portals, according to specifications adopted by the City Council, are nearly completed. The portal design, which calls for a dignified and artistic entrance, has been approved by the Municipal Art Commission.

The assessment district has been apportioned, and while there is still some detail work yet to be done in the City Engineer's office, the matter is practically ready for definite action by the City Council.

An order to have the ordinance of installation prepared is likely to be made by the Council soon after such recommendation is made by the Streets and Boulevards Committee. That committee will meet tomorrow to examine the plans. If any public hearing is considered necessary, it will probably be fixed for next Thursday.

The tunnel will be driven in two bays, 2200 feet long. Each bay is twenty-four feet wide and seventeen feet high, with sidewalks five feet wide. There is room in each drive-way for a double row of vehicles.

The eastern portal will be at Olive street and the grade will be cut on Second street from Hill to Olive to conform with the present grade at Hill street. The western portal will be at Figueroa street, and a slight change in the grade will be necessary there.

The portals will be similar in design and construction and will be constructed of artificial stone in imitation of the original stone of the postoffice building. Columns on either side will divide the tunnel from the property line and the whole will be surmounted by an ornamental balustrade. Two ornamental lighting fixtures will be placed above each portal.

The tunnel will be lined with white enameled tile similar to that used in the Hill-street tunnel and the walls will be waterproofed with an adequate system of drainage. The floor will be of concrete. Thirty-three lamps of 100 watts each will illuminate each bay. The light will be reflected as in the Hill-street tunnel.

The Second-street tunnel, according to the intention of the City Council, will be completed and in use before the end of next year. In the meantime preparations for driving the longer bay through First street will be hurried along.

The general plan for improving West First street will be begun soon, residents west of the hill desiring to take advantage of the traffic brought by the Second-street bore, even though the First-street tunnel may not be finished for several months afterward.

her money, she says, so she ate nothing all week, and was so weary and stupid that the hotel keeper fired her for incompetence.

Then disputes came up at home, long discussions about religion, and finally the love affair. A man had wooed her. She had seen happiness ahead, and Monday she was to be a bride. It was worth all the sorrow, she thought, to be so happy again.

When she waited for her sweetheart to go on an excursion with her yesterday, he disappointed her. He left the city, to be gone two weeks, he said.

So she walked into the hills near Elusive Park, and asked them to help her. The crowd gathered idly overhead, the chipmunk capered impudently about her and then fled, and the bird hopped up and looked her fairly in the eye, long and seriously, and hopped away.

She hills wouldn't answer and she swallowed the poison. At the Receiving Hospital she was reviewing her troubles last night to more talkative institutions than the hills, and received much advice. So now she wants to live.

She will.

Ritual Murder.

hearts of all true people an earnest and emphatic protest against any attempt to excite the brutal passions of men against their neighbors and their fellow citizens. The wrong is all the greater, when, under the garb of religious falsehood, is used to prejudice the people against their friends and neighbors. The worst feature of this vile charge at present is that it strikes not only those who are charged with the crime, but also the entire Jewish race and is a blow at the manhood of all races, and all men should rise in protest against the outrage.

"Our hearts are moved to protest against the outrage against this attack upon a race to whom the world owes so much. The Jews represent ancient blood, intellectual energy, and a noble religious spirit. They represent an ancient religion, and heroic devotion to it. While we differ from them by our Christianity, we are one with them in that respect which man owes to his fellowmen, and in that love which God prescribes shall be the test of our love for him."

"We give our sympathy to our Jewish brethren, who are our friends and neighbors who enjoy our confidence and merit our respect. We unite with all peoples in resenting the wickedness of the charge against them as Catholics and citizens, we appeal to Russia today to do justice to a long-suffering and honorable race."

"We pray God that the evil that must result from an appeal to race hatred may be prevented. Before God's altar, we address ourselves as His children with a heart that beats in common, with a sense of justice and fair dealing, as well as with a protest against prejudice and calumny. As children of the church we renew the statement of our distinguished pontiffs who have always been the friends of the persecuted Jews, and especially those who have been pronounced in their charge of ritual blood sacrifice."

"FRIGHTFUL ANACHRONISM."

"Why should Christian people vehemently protest against the ritual murder trial in Russia? Dr. Locke at the First Methodist Church, 'Somewhere in the remote shadows of medievalism there was originated this horrible tradition known as the 'ritual murder' by which it was charged that the Jews in their solemn paschal ritual used the blood of Christian children to make unleavened bread and sacramental wine. Because to eat or drink the blood of a Christian, added special efficacy to their worship, it was claimed, that they justified themselves in these human sacrifices—which came to be denounced as ritual murder. Since the twelfth century this wicked calumny has been now and again revived against the Jews. Again and again popes and prelates and civil authorities and penetrating scholars have investigated this horrible accusation, and not a single case has ever been authenticated or verified. The theory has been denounced by papal bulls and ecclesiastical deliverances and royal interdictions and no foundation has been found for this monstrous action. It will be remembered that such false and infamous charges were made against the early Christians by their ignorant and vicious pagan persecutors. There is nothing in the teachings or practice of the Jewish religion that justifies this gross and grotesque fabrication. Considering the well-known attitude of the Hebrew people against the use of blood as a food, the charge is absurd and impossible and would be ludicrous if it were not so pernicious and venomous."

"It is feared that the present ritual murder trial in Russia may so inflame the minds of the Russian peasantry that another wide-spread massacre of the Jews may be instigated. There is bitter racial animosity in Russia against the Jew, where in times past they have suffered unspeakable atrocities at the hands of an infuriated fanaticism. The man on trial may be a murderer, but in the interest of justice and truth, all Christians are calling upon the Russian government to use the limitless power of his high position to assure his multitudinous subjects that no case of ritual murder has been found and must prevent a murderous outbreak of indignation against an innocent and defenseless and terrified race."

"Let us, therefore, join our most earnest protest along with the multitudes whose voices are being raised against this frightful anachronism. The day of persecution in the interest of any cause should be over forever. The cruel weapon of persecution never did in the end defeat the progress of truth. The pagans persecuted the Christians, a Spanish inquisition persecuted the Jews, and a wild and senseless fanaticism has again and again seized this rude but cruel weapon, but truth cannot ultimately be retarded by such a factor as this ritual murder charge."

"The thumb-screw, the rack, or by crucifixion or massacre, 'You cannot do anything against the truth but it will triumph.'"

KIEV TRIAL CONDEMNED.

As at other churches where the resolution was put to a vote the congregation of Temple Baptist Church placed their record on record last night as warmly endorsing it. Dr. Brougher paid a high tribute to the Jew as a citizen, a business man and a factor in the world. Of the Kiev trial itself he said:

"This so-called 'ritual murder' trial has called the attention of the civilized world to the religious intolerance of the Russian government and state church. There probably is no country in the world where a government claiming to be influenced by Christianity has shown so little of the real spirit of Christ as has Russia. There seems to be no justice in the land of Russia for any faith that differs from the creed held by the Greek Church. The Baptists are suffering persecution continually in that country, and the great leader of our Baptist work, Fetter, and hundreds of other Baptist ministers, missionaries and preachers have been cast into prison, strung up by their thumbs, their ears punctured with red-hot iron and pieces cut out in order to brand them, while others have been actually put to death, in order to keep them from preaching the truth as they understand it."

"At the present time the Russian government, in order to vent its hate and spite upon the Jews, has accused them of the crime of 'ritual murder.' By this process they are inflaming the race prejudices of the Russians against the Jews, and a wholesale massacre of the Jews in that country."

"A man whose race prejudices are so strong that he is willing to murder, that is the man who is the danger to the Jew. The Jews were only being paid back for the persecutions they inflicted upon Christians centuries ago. He declared that the Jews had crucified Christ and had been persecuting Christians ever since. Our Lady of Loreto; Rev. Alfred Smith, St. Mathias, and others.

Blodgett Had Had Brights

We were puzzled, Wm. D. Duncan, the Ottawa, Illinois, druggist, sent a sample marked "Blodgett." It showed normal, viz., Specific gravity, 1.015; no albumen; no sugar.

We were about to write Duncan to ask why he sent it. Then came this letter:

"This party was cured by Fulton's Royal Compound. His doctor gave him some fifteen years ago. He has been losing flesh and wants to know if the old ailment is showing again. He is sixty-six years old and feels good otherwise."

As the sample gave no traces of albumen and the specific gravity was normal his Bright's disease seems to have disappeared. However, if there is a tendency to recurrence it is most likely that it will respond the second time. There have been a number of such cases.—[Advertisement.]

We need to enter upon a great educational campaign for the purpose of driving out race prejudices in all so-called Christian, civilized countries, as well as in countries where they do not accept the principles of Christianity.

"I thank God that the Baptists never persecuted or tortured anyone in all the history of our denomination, and while it may be true that the Jew and other religious bigots in the centuries past have persecuted and been persecuted, we are now living in the twentieth century and ought to have made enough progress through Christian enlightenment to do away with race prejudices and religious persecution forever. If the Jews crucified Christ, one thing is certain—Jesus Christ forgave them, for he said with his expiring breath, 'Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do.' Is it not time for Christians at least to forgive and to forget what Christ forgave twenty centuries ago?"

"I lift my voice and pen against race prejudice and persecution. Certainly the Jew throughout the centuries has more than paid the penalty for any persecution he may have inflicted upon others. If there is a cruelty or injustice that the Jew has not heaped upon him by all nations, I do not know what it is. What has he done to merit the world's inhumanity? He and his ancestors have done more for the progress of the world than any other race of people on the earth."

"DESPERATE SUBTERFUGE."

Rev. Baker P. Lee, pastor of Christ Church, said that Russia and the Holy Orthodox church were not content to march under the banner of Christ until they have cleared themselves of the stigma of persecuting the Jews, a race of which the Savior was a member.

"The world is more than ever one big family," he said, "brought closer together every day by the wonderful wireless telegraph, so that New York and Bombay, Los Angeles and Peking, are in touch with each other every hour of the day. The dwellers on the earth are one great, spiritual brotherhood, so that 'in injury to one, is injury to all.' We may try to shirk the responsibility at times, but we are, in very truth, our brothers' keepers. The attempt to fasten 'ritual murder' upon the despised bricklayer, a Jew, looks like a desperate subterfuge on the part of the bureaucracy of Russia, seeking to stir up the passions of the mob against the Jewish people, in the hope of diverting attention from the rottenness existing in political and official circles in the Czar's kingdom."

The situation seems analogous to that of the days immediately preceding the outbreak of war between Russia and Japan, when a deplorable amount of official graft flourished in the former country. A united protest on the part of Christian nations will serve to warn Russia that such an anachronism as persecution of a people who have been persecuted for centuries will not be tolerated in the twentieth century."

"HUMAN BUTCHERS."

At the First United Brethren Church, the pastor, Dr. John Albert Eby, preached a powerful sermon on the topic, "Love and Life versus Hate and Death." The Jewish people, he said, are the "human butchers" of the world. "The cruel Russians who have had the sword in the heart of the Hebrew for centuries are no more Christian than the heathen savages of Africa," he said. "Christ does not know such human butchers. They have been found and must prevent a murderous outbreak of indignation against an innocent and defenseless and terrified race."

"Let us, therefore, join our most earnest protest along with the multitudes whose voices are being raised against this frightful anachronism. The day of persecution in the interest of any cause should be over forever. The cruel weapon of persecution never did in the end defeat the progress of truth. The pagans persecuted the Christians, a Spanish inquisition persecuted the Jews, and a wild and senseless fanaticism has again and again seized this rude but cruel weapon, but truth cannot ultimately be retarded by such a factor as this ritual murder charge."

"The thumb-screw, the rack, or by crucifixion or massacre, 'You cannot do anything against the truth but it will triumph.'"

KIEV TRIAL CONDEMNED.

As at other churches where the resolution was put to a vote the congregation of Temple Baptist Church placed their record on record last night as warmly endorsing it. Dr. Brougher paid a high tribute to the Jew as a citizen, a business man and a factor in the world. Of the Kiev trial itself he said:

"This so-called 'ritual murder' trial has called the attention of the civilized world to the religious intolerance of the Russian government and state church. There probably is no country in the world where a government claiming to be influenced by Christianity has shown so little of the real spirit of Christ as has Russia. There seems to be no justice in the land of Russia for any faith that differs from the creed held by the Greek Church. The Baptists are suffering persecution continually in that country, and the great leader of our Baptist work, Fetter, and hundreds of other Baptist ministers, missionaries and preachers have been cast into prison, strung up by their thumbs, their ears punctured with red-hot iron and pieces cut out in order to brand them, while others have been actually put to death, in order to keep them from preaching the truth as they understand it."

SOUTH DAKOTA COMING.

Battleship to Represent the Navy Is Due in the Harbor Tuesday to Celebrate.

The Navy Department of the United States will be officially represented in the aqueduct celebration this week by the battleship South Dakota, which is expected to arrive at San Pedro Tuesday morning. Capt. Plunkett will be met by members of the Reception Committee and will officially extend the government's felicitations at the completion of the great undertaking.

The battleship will remain in the harbor until Thursday, after which it will probably maneuver off the coast of Mexico. Secretary F. B. Davison and the members of the committee having the celebration in charge, put in a strenuous day yesterday, and the final arrangements for the big celebration were completed.

A Ghost Laid.
[Cincinnati Enquirer.] A mystery that had been terrifying people of North Lewisburg, O., has been explained, and instead of a "ghost" it was a photograph.

Weird music had been frequently heard near the public vault in the North Lewisburg Cemetery. The new explanation, satisfying at last, is that the music was the echoed vibration of a phonograph in a home a half-mile away, rebounding from a hill behind the vault.
